About the Artists

Bruce Greene

Bruce Greene has been involved with art and learning all his life. From classes at the Museum of Art in Dallas as an 8-year-old to workshops with the Cowboy Artists of America in Kerrville, Bruce has honed his craft to perfection and in the process picked up the skills to pass along that hard-earned knowledge. Today he is a renowned, award-winning sculptor and painter whose work is represented in both private collections and public places, including Baylor University, The Ballpark in Arlington, and soon the Alamo. Bruce has twice earned the CAA's Ray Swanson Memorial Award, given for artwork "that best communicates a moment in time and captures the emotion of the moment." Bruce credits his authenticity to annual trips to the JA Ranch in the Palo Dura Canyon. "We ride a lot of miles in rough country....It seems necessary, to me, in order to depict the contemporary cowboy with accuracy and feeling. My good friend, Red Steagall, calls it 'getting the dust in your nose.' For me, that dust makes the difference."

Bruce and his wife, Janie, live on a small ranch just outside Clifton.

Bosque County born and raised, Martin Grelle has continued to call home the town that nurtured his budding talent as an artist. Martin considers himself fortunate that two CAA giants--Melvin Warren and James Boren--moved to Clifton during his formative high school years. Within a year of graduating, Martin exhibited in his first one-man show. In the 40-plus years since that time, he has produced some 30 one-man exhibitions--including annual shows at Overland Gallery in Scottsdale, Arizona, from 1989 through 2014--and has won awards of both regional & national importance at shows around the country. Grelle was invited into membership with the Cowboy Artists of America in 1995, fulfilling a dream that began in the early 70's when he first met Boren & Warren. Among his many honors, he has received the
