ATRIUM GALLERY

JUDITH BAKER

Judith Baker is our featured artist in the Atrium Gallery for the month of October.

Her exhibit is entitled "Botanical Art: The Intersection of Art and Science", and it features her drawings of Texas plants. Judith was trained as a traditional botanical artist and has been awarded a botanical illustration diploma by the Society of Botanical Artists (UK). She works primarily in colored pencil but also uses other mediums upon occasion.

See Judith's works at the Atrium Gallery 9-5 daily and during BAC events held at other times. Be sure to drop by during October and enjoy viewing Judith's exhibit.

scheduled for November 6th with celebrity judge Marty Haggard. The entrants in the contest have provided us with a wonderful line of song selection. We have entries from Tennessee, Missouri, Massachusetts, Colorado and Texas and look forward to welcoming some of them to the BAC. The song topics range from lost love to new love and just about everything in between.

Our celebrity judge, Marty Haggard, hails from Bakersfield, CA and as a young person initially started his career as an actor in several TV shows before starting a solo career as a singer. He released several singles during the years of 1979 to 1981. He then joined his father's band and toured with his dad, Merle Haggard, for several years. In 1985 he released "Trains Make Me Lonesome" which got him a nomination for Top New Male Vocalist from the Academy of Country Music and was later covered by George Strait in 1992. Marty's interest began to turn toward Christian music and he released his first Christian album in 1996. Marty has released multiple albums since then of which two are tribute albums of his dad's work.

A new display is now up on the walls in the Atrium Café. The Quilt Guild has agreed to provide quilts for display regularly throughout the year to bring the café walls to colorful life. As of the first of September, five quilts are now on display. These quilts are the work of quilters Sydney Carlisle, Glenda Sager, Cheryl Lundberg, Jan Rogers and Teresa Nickell. Please take a moment to come and view these beautiful additions to the Bosque Arts Center's visual art experience.

The 36th Annual Bosque Art Classic

By John Linn

The 36th Annual Bosque Art Classic saw 185 pieces juried into the exhibition out of the close to 600 entries. The Art Council celebrated the Artists and Award winners on Saturday, September 11, with the Awards ceremony, dinner and opening sales of the art. The exhibition is open free to the public September 12-25.

Tyler Crow, CA served as this year's judge. There were over 100 artists represented this year in the Art Classic. Returning to the show this year were 2020 award winners Joe Barbieri, Linda Becker, Tatsiana Harbacheuskaya, Steve Dunn, Eileen Nistler, and Hebe Brooks. In addition, veterans to the show; Daniel Anz, Kathy Tate, Lloyd Voges, Jean Olliver, and Victor Blakey were present. Several newcomers joined the herd as award winners: Dana Lombardo and Thomas Tankersley. Over half of the winning artists were able to attend this year's Friday night Art Patrons reception and Saturday's Awards ceremony and dinner.

Saturday night was kicked off with the first hour opened up for the Art Patrons to purchase art, followed up with all attendees having the opportunity to purchase through the rest of the evening. Opening night resulted in over 35 pieces of art sold. There was a festive mood for the 270 attendees Saturday evening. Many voiced the pleasure of having the Art Classic "live" again this year after last year's virtual exhibition and sale. The TBT auditorium was outfitted with black table cloths, beautiful Hydrangea centerpieces and brilliant teal napkins with some bling. Dinner was catered by Bestyett from Waco. A big "THANK YOU" to all who made this evening so special after such a challenging year.

"My painting tells a story of a commercial boat, having been away on the ocean for a long while, trying to get home before dark, and can finally see his home port. He must be thinking, 'be home soon.' We all know that wonderful feeling...I have almost always painted in watercolor, even in my architectural presentations, since I can remember."

By Lillian Lemke-Jacoway

Our prayers go out to Jo Beck, who recently lost Bill, her husband of many years.

The September meeting for the art club was a free paint day. Members enjoyed painting and sharing information.

Pam Eggelbregt & Linda Walker

Judith Baker updated our artists' journal with suggestions for additional information to each entry.

In October Beth Hatcher will demonstrate "Unforgettable", art that is the creation of two painters. Bring your painting supplies and an old painting to paint along with Beth.
